Hale Capital Partners Invests in ExistX

Bridging the Technology Transition Gap for National Security Innovation

New York, NY — Hale Capital Partners announced today that it has closed an investment in ExistX, Inc., a federal solutions company redefining how cutting-edge innovations transition into operational impact for the Department of Defense and Intelligence Community.

Founded in 2023 as a spinout of Galois, Inc., ExistX has rapidly established itself as a leader in delivering agile, adaptable digital solutions tailored to DoD and Intelligence Community needs. By bridging the “technology transition valley of death,” ExistX ensures groundbreaking research becomes operational capabilities, supporting high-stakes missions across the battlefield and in critical defense operations.

“ExistX represents exactly the kind of innovative company we seek to partner with,” said Martin M. Hale Jr. “Their ability to rapidly transition research into operational solutions addresses a critical gap in the federal market. We look forward to collaborating with their exceptional team to expand their impact across the national security enterprise.”

Hale Capital’s investment will enable ExistX to grow its business development team, build on its profitable operations and established customer base, and collaborate with Hale’s portfolio of companies, leading research firms, and national laboratories.
